Spring-run Chinook Watershed Symposium

July 27-29 in Butte Creek in the Northern Central Valley

Butte Creek contains one of the last self-sustaining populations of Spring-Run Chinook in California. SRF will offer a three-day symposium for property owners, local restorationists, and agency biologists and staff to participate in workshops on fish monitoring and identification techniques, to tour and understand restoration projects, and to increase their capacity to positively impact the recovery of Spring Run Chinook in California.
